DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

As yet there has been no test of the strength of the respective parties, and the proceedings in the House have been decidedly tame, though the Opposition organs asserted that the strength of the Government would be challenged on the election of a Speaker or an amendment to the Address. We see by our despatches, however, that Mr. Watson, the member for Marquette, Manitoba, has given notice that he will move a motion condemning the Government policy, so that the Opposition are likely to expose their weakness in a few days.

Mr. Davin has given notice that he will introduce a bill to grant Provincial Government to the Northwest, but as we are not informed as to its provisions we are not prepared to express an opinion concerning it. Mr. Davin's knowledge of Northwest affairs, however, should be a guarantee that his bill will be equal to our requirements. If it is found on examination that it is not that the rights of the people of the Northwest, or any section of it, are likely to be sacrificed, we shall not fail to oppose it.

The same gentleman is also endeavoring to have the fees under the Torrens System in the Northwest reduced. So far, the people of this district have not been able to take advantage of that system of registration, so that we are not prepared to state what the public opinion of this District is as to the fees.

In an interview with Messrs. Davin and Perley the Minister of the Interior stated that the idea of allowing a second homestead for pre-emption was out of the question, but that the Government would grant second homesteads to those entitled to them up to the 3d of June 1888, whether applied for or not. This should be an encouragement to settlers, if a second homestead is worth anything.

We learn by our despatches also that the Government are considering the granting of pensions to the Mounted Police after a certain term of service. Had pensions been granted before it would have been the means of keeping many good men in the force and keeping it in a higher state of efficiency. The police are as much entitled to pensions as regular soldiers, and we trust that the Government will pass the measure referred to this session.

The agitation in Manitoba against disallowance in Manitoba still goes on with unabated vigor, and the Manitoba members have not been able to make any impression on the Government in the way of securing the desired concession. Two charters have been granted by the Manitoba Legislature for railways to the border and the promoters of them propose to go on with their construction whether their charters are disallowed or not. This will, we fancy, have the effect of bringing things to a head and deciding the question one way or the other.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

It is contended by the advocates of Imperial Federation that such an arrangement would draw the different dependencies closer together, and give additional strength to the Empire as a whole. But Imperial Federation would also mean the assuming of a share in Imperial responsibilities by the dependencies, and the question naturally suggests itself to every Canadian:—Would the advantages to be derived from such an arrangement be equal to the responsibilities to which we would be subjected? While we are loyal subjects, and as such take an interest in any movement having for its end the furthering of the interests of the Empire, we do not think we should leave ourselves liable to be taxed for wars in which we have no interest other than sentimental. Our duty is to keep out of entangling alliances with any or all countries. The proposal to establish a Customs Union among all parts of the British Empire is also equally objectionable, because it would mean a sacrifice of the interests of Canada to those of the Empire. The best union we can have with the Mother Country is the one existing at present, which involves no sacrifice of liberty on our part and is mutually advantageous.

THE INTER-PROVINCIAL CONFERENCE.

Referring to the proposed inter-provincial conference the Globe says:—"It has been frequently asserted by Sir John Macdonald's admirers that he proved himself a statesman by welding the Provinces together and creating a Canadian national spirit. This he should have done, but in nothing has he so signally failed. If to-day Nova Scotia desires secession, if New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, and Quebec, and Manitoba are distressed; if each of these Provinces strives to set its own interests above the interests of the Dominion, demanding better financial terms for itself without caring whether the other Provinces be treated justly or unjustly; if between the Provinces there is little community of feeling; if in some of the Provinces the people do not even call themselves Canadians, the fault is chiefly his." We beg to differ with the Globe. It only shows how little the hounding politicians who are encouraged by the Grit organs, care for the national interests as compared with those of party. If they cannot command the ship of state they unite in the endeavor to strand it. It shows also that a lion such as the union of the Provinces is lightly thought of when easily accomplished. If it had been conceived by a struggle such as that which took place in the United States Provincial crises would not be raised as they are now. We do not desire to see any such struggle in defence of Confederation, but if Provincial interests are to be held paramount to those of the nation then the dream of a Canadian nationality is only a dream.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

THE Edmonton Bulletin of the 19th, speaking of the late elections, said:—"Next to the popularity which each candidate was shown to possess nearest home, the most pleasing feature of the contest was the independence with which the votes were cast, showing that if bribery and intimidation were attempted they were not very successful." In its issue of the 25th ult. it says:—"Through out the Territories the men who draw the country's money for doing the country's work, acted as the special agents of the party in power, ably assisted by the still larger number who hoped at some future date to rise to the summit of their ambition, the drawing of Government pay. Wherever selfish interest showed itself they were ready to publish wires which would best turn to their master's account—and they did their work well. In Assiniboia and Saskatchewan, leaving wire pulling and promises out of the question, the people were scarcely in a position to assert themselves. In Saskatchewan . . . they were told distinctly and repeatedly by the Government agents that if they did not vote as they were required their losses would not be paid. Many had already had too good evidence of the brutal nature of the party with whom they had to deal, and if, in consequence, they voted against what they knew to be right, while they cannot be praised they can scarcely be blamed." It is hard to account for two such contradictory statements even by the Bulletin within such a short space of time. Will brother O. please rise and explain which of the above statements he would have the public accept as the truth. For our part we believe the first to be perfectly true.

SPRING OPERATIONS.

Farming operations commenced about the 11th inst. in this district, and are now being pushed forward with vigor. Those who prepared their land last fall are well advanced with their seeding, while those who neglected to prepare their land last fall are, as a consequence, not as far advanced as they otherwise would be. The area sown this year is not expected to exceed last year's. Up to the present wheat is the principal grain sown, barley and oats are being sown with some exceptions, left to the last. In a few days, however, the coarse grains will all be sown, when the planting of potatoes and other vegetables will be proceeded with. The season, it is true, has been a little backward, but those of the farmers who fall ploughed their land are hopeful of reaping a good crop. Gardening operations have just commenced.

CATTLE RAISING.

The advantages this country possesses for the raising and wintering of cattle has been amply demonstrated by the experience of the past winter, not one animal having perished from want or exposure. The only loss sustained was one sheep out of a flock of 400 owned by Mayor MacArthur. It is true there are no very large herds in the district, and most of the animals are stabled and fed during extremely cold weather, but by being plentiful and cheap, and the timber necessary for building stables being easily obtainable, the cost of wintering cattle is much less than the losses sustained by the cattlemen of the Southern Alberta. This fact alone, apart from the other advantages the Saskatchewan district possesses, ought to be enough to convince intending settlers of the superiority of this country over the south as a field, if not for cattle raising alone, at least for general farming.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sir Charles Tupper will visit the Northwest after the session. The Globe of the 5th inst. says:—"In describing the proceedings of a meeting of the friends of Mr. Macdowall, the Government member for Saskatchewan, the Prince Albert Times says:—'Cheers were given for the Metis who stood by Mr. Macdowall, the Mounted Police and Government officials.' This is true as far as it goes, but why leave out Ratford, Mr. Chapleau, Mr. Macdowall, Sir John and the Queen."

From the report of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs we learn that there are 128,781 Indians in Canada, of which Manitoba and the Northwest have 30,309. The expenditure on them for the year ending 30th June last was $1,159,168, showing an increase of $86,735 over the preceding year, or just $2.47 per head, man, woman and child. The approximate quantity of land held by the Government in trust for the Indians is nearly 500,000 acres. The discouraging feature in this report is the increase, instead of decrease, in the expenditure in connection with the Indians, as it would seem to indicate a retrograde progress on their part in the acquisition of the art of making their own living.

TERRITORIAL NEWS.

EDMONTON.

From the Bulletin, March 26th.

Weather fine, but spring is more backward than has been the case for several years.

No prospect of a freshet this spring and scarcity of timber for Prince Bros., Battleford, will be shipped first thing in the spring.

J. Fraser left for the landing on Tuesday to build two York boats for Colin Fraser who is going down the Athabasca to trade. W. G. Dabson will accompany Mr. Fraser. They will leave early in May.

J. Honey is working at placer mining near his quartz claim, out on the south side of the river. A few feet above high water mark there is a deposit of gravel 20 feet thick by 1,500 feet in length along the bank of the river, resting on a bed of rock. Into this bank Mr. Honey has run a tunnel for some seventy feet, the dirt taken out averaging a cent of gold to the pan and getting better as the work goes further in.

The Indian Department is taking steps to experiment on the propagation of wild rice in this part of the country, with a view to increasing the food supply of the Indians, directly by the grain, and indirectly by the larger numbers of wild rice which it will attract. The three agencies in this vicinity have been furnished with seed this winter, with instructions to place it to the best advantage in suitable but marshy streams or lakes next summer. Several sportsmen in town have also procured some to experiment with in their small lakes near here, with a view to attracting ducks. The experiment is well worth it, but as none of the parties who are interested themselves in the matter have any practical knowledge of the rice or its growth they are working largely in the dark. Parties familiar in any degree with the growth of wild rice will confer a favor by calling at the Bulletin office to be interviewed on the subject.

BATTLEFORD.

From the Herald of April 2.

Prince Brothers are removing their sawmill from its former site to the bank of the Saskatchewan.

Supt. Gagnon arrived by the last mail and will take command of this post during the absence of Supt. Cotton, who goes east on leave in a few days.

There was good deal of discussion and some legislation last year as to the best method of destroying gophers? Poison was generally accepted as the simplest and surest method of reducing their numbers, but there is another plan, easy of accomplishment, which would tend to keep them in check, and that is to discourage the practice of wantonly shooting at and killing them. Both these birds prey largely on gophers and other vermin on the plains.

W. Latimer's farm house near Edmonton was burned on Wednesday, with the contents. Mrs. Latimer was alone and tried to extinguish the fire, which caught from the chimney, and some rifle cartridges which were in the house began to go off with the heat, when she was compelled to give up without saving anything.

LOCAL NEWS.

Archdeacon Pinkham, Bishop designate of Saskatchewan, arrived last evening and is stopping at the Queen's. He was six days on the road from Qu'Appelle.

The ice in the Saskatchewan is slow to move this year. It has probably got an idea that it will be required to keep us cool this summer, but we beg to state that the election is over. Go east, go down the rapids as rapid as you can.

We have received the first number of the Monitor, published in Morden, Manitoba. It is a neatly printed and well edited thirty-six column paper, and we are happy to say is on the right side of politics. We wish it success.

Wm. Plaxton, President of the Lorne Agricultural Society, lately received a handsome bronze medal from the Colonial Exhibition, awarded for a half bushel of Winter Russian wheat. The medal was directed to A. H. Clark, Esq., Secretary of the Lorne Agricultural Society.

In the bowling tournament commenced on the 12th inst. in the City Bowling Alley, J. Hodgson leads with a score of 241, D. Williamson, second, 220; J. Knowles, third, 213; C. Nowitt, fourth, 165. This is fair bowling, but we expect to see the score broken before the 12th May, when the tournament ends.

We understand that the demand for seed grain is greater than the supply. We also understand that those who have made applications for seed grain and who are located on the east side of the South Branch, cannot get their seed until it arrives here, though a large quantity of grain is now detained in that locality owing to the farmers being unable to cross. The Department, it seems to us, would be quite justified in making some arrangement to meet the emergency.

We clip the following interesting paragraph from the Ontario Gleaner, Cambridge, Ontario, of the 6th inst.:—"Our citizens were very much interested on Tuesday in the marriage of Miss Mary Ann McRae (step-daughter of Mr. John McTaggart, formerly of this place, but now of Prince Albert, N. W. T.), to Mr. H. J. Montgomery, of Prince Edward Island. The marriage service was performed at 10:30 a.m., in the Presbyterian Church, by the Rev. J. B. McLaren, in the presence of many friends. It is not necessary to say that the bride looked charming. She was accompanied by Miss Minnie Wheeler and Miss McKenzie, her cousins, and the groom by Mr. Rod. McKenzie. After the ceremony, the guests proceeded to the house of Mr. Wm. McKenzie, uncle of the bride, and partook of the bounteous repast provided. The happy pair left in the afternoon for a trip east before returning to their future home in Prince Albert, N. W. T. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents. May their future be bright." Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery have our best wishes.

Campbell, Chas. Mair and Mayor MacArthur, with power to appoint sub-committees to take charge of the different amusements, and report at an early day. Some discussion took place on the question of establishing a permanent memorial, such as a hospital, and it was decided that whatever funds remained after the expenses of the celebration had been defrayed should be left to the people to dispose of.

A FRIEND IN NEED.

In the last volume of his memoirs Louis Kosuth relates an incident which occurred immediately after the Hungarian revolution of 1848.

Kosuth had fled to Widdin, and, with a companion, was in danger of being handed over to the enemy unless a letter could be immediately dispatched to Lord Palmerston, begging his intervention.

Kosuth goes on to say:—"While we were thinking how this could be done, a man entered my department—a typical English figure, with his hat pushed back over his forehead, an immense umbrella under his arm, covered with dust and looking exceedingly weary. It could be easily seen that he had come from a long journey.

"Good day, gentlemen!" "Good day, sir; can we oblige you?" "I have come from India to fight for the freedom of Hungary. It looks as if I had come too late."

"Unfortunately, too late. Take a chair."

He sat down, pushed his hat still further back, wiped the perspiration from his forehead, placed his umbrella between his legs, and busied himself with cleaning his finger-nails.

Hemington whispered to me:—"We have already a courier who went stand still until he's in Downing street."

"Whom do you mean?" said I. "That man there. He is an Englishman and that is enough."

He stepped up to him and tapped him on the shoulder.

"Sir!" "What is the matter?" "Is your passport in order?" "Yes."

"Well, the matter is so"—(and here he explained the circumstances). "We require a man who will travel to London without stopping and without sleeping, and who will not rest until he has placed this letter in Lord Palmerston's hands. Will you do that?"

The brave Englishman jumped up from his chair, reached me his hand, and merely said: "Where is the letter?"

I gave it to him, he put it in his knapsack, drew his hat down over his ears, took his umbrella under his arm, and said: "All right! good-bye," and he rushed out.

In less than a quarter of an hour I heard the sound of horses hoofs on the street, and there he was, with a servant, riding due west. He took advantage of the quickest route, and did not rest until he had put my letter in Palmerston's hands. The letter also had the desired effect.

I was travelling to Niagara, in Canada, our train stopped at a station to allow another train to pass in the opposite direction. At the desire of the people I stepped to the carriage window. A man's arm was extended to me from a window of the other train and reached me a visiting card. I took it and read: "Mr. Roger Casement," with the words written in pencil, "I gave Palmerston the Widdin letters." Thus I learned the name of the man, but never heard anything more of him afterwards."
